

National Gas chairs WLPGA's Global Technology Conference Session in South Korea

National Gas Co. SAOG, Oman's premier LPG marketing company is an active member of the World LP Gas Association (WLPGA) and participated in the Annual World LPG Forum held in Seoul, South Korea between 24th – 26th September 2008. Goutam Sen, National Gas' General Manager was the Chairman of this year's Global Technology Conference Operations Session, which focuses on ground breaking new technology and developments in the LP Gas business.

This year's conference was attended by over 400 delegates from 54 countries around the globe and brought together expert speakers from the field of Operations Technology, Auto LPG and Application Innovation. The conference highlighted the impact of "LPG as a Clean Energy for a Low Carbon World".

National Gas' Chairman Sh. Khalid Alhosni said that "National Gas' high level involvement in such an important LP Gas industry event demonstrates its growing significance in the international scene, and it's a matter of pride for Oman." He added that "We are deeply committed to bringing value added services to our large customer base and have been on the forefront of providing world class technology such as Township Gas systems, Synthetic Natural Gas Systems, Cutting Gas, Aerosol Propellant, etc that deliver environment friendly, safe and convenient solutions to our valued consumers".

Speaking at the conference in Seoul, Goutam Sen said that "LP Gas marketing companies are constantly looking at innovative means to improve their service level, efficiency and safety for the benefit of consumers; and such forums contribute towards sharing of best industry practices and cutting edge expertise that companies can imbibe for enhancement of their home markets".

The conference was accompanied by an exhibition showcasing latest LP Gas equipment and services from around the globe that gave participants an opportunity to meet major engineering companies as well as product and support providers on a common platform.

National Gas Co. SAOG, one of the largest LP Gas companies in the region with major market shares in Oman and UAE, has been serving its customers for close to three decades. It has pioneered several breakthrough products and plans are underway for many more developments in the near future.
